96 first in series by military historian col. mikhael dilyakov: "the israeli aggression as viewed by a military expert," pointing out invasion was well prepared in advance and plans made to ensure surprise attack, however, the zionists' surprise war failed and increased worldwide condemnation of israeli aggression against lebanese and palestinians. Iran 98 anon discussing who benefits from wave of anticommunism in iran. (sent: persian 1800)

Iran 99 vera lebedeva commentary, read by author, on 20th anniversary of 1963 uprising. lebedeva criticizes shah's white revolution and refers to her visits to iran during which she talked with workers. she quotes workers' views on shah's reforms and says she saw for herself that iranians attached great hopes to cooperation with soviet union. this is very natural, she says, because soviet union's stance on iran is basically contrary to west's stance. west, led by the united states, wants to place iran under its domination and to exploit iranians and their wealth, while soviet union and other socialist countries base their relations with iran on equality and mutually beneficial cooperation. therefore how can socialist soviet union be compared with imperialist united states when voicing slogan "neither east nor west," iranian people are marking 20th anniversary of uprising under difficult conditions.

iran's international position is complicated because of continuation of war with iraq and restrictive measures imposed on tudeh party.

u.s. press blatantly speaks about favorable conditions for return of western companies to iran -- in other words, favorable conditions for reviving monarchy in iran, under such conditions iranian people need guidelines to prevent them from losing path opened by revolution. (8 min: persian 1700 1800)
